Downsizing doesn't necessarily mean you need less space. Just the right space.

Sandpiper is roomy where it counts most — in the places where you entertain and spend time with family. The kitchen, with a generously sized island, flows right into the dining room, which connects to a spacious great room with vaulted ceiling for even more airiness. Together this all makes for one long, impressive sight line from front door to back patio. As for practical extras, a pantry, mud room and double walk-in closets make it clear that downsizing doesn't mean doing without.
